AMBROSE FIELDS

EARL WALLACE

NELL WOOLERY

ELIZABETH BOBB

Pendleton Public Library now has oral history

Recently the Pendleton County Public Library became a secondary repository for a collection of seven recordings made in the summer of 1978 by the Kentucky Oral History Commission. These seven recordings contain family and community reminiscences of Ambrose Fields, Earl Wallace, Nell Woolery, Elizabeth Bobb and James Seman Rule.

Mr. Fields comments on some of his experiences as a county magistrate and county judge. Other topics include Pendleton County history, courthouse life, and family history. Mr. Wallace tells when and how the sweet clover and fescue crops were brought into the county; he gives a brief history of Falmouth, recalls stories about the McCoy properties, and also mentions the Falmouth jail and churches.

Mrs. Woolery talks about the Bradford, Patton, Waller and Chiles families from the post Civil War era to the early 1900's and attitudes toward slaves after the Civil War.

Mrs. Bobb remembers the Greenwood School, recalls the O.W. Coles whiskey distillery and saloon, and mentions people paying taxes by working on road repair. Other topics include housekeeping, farm life, school consolidation, transportation and local businesses.

Mr. Rule remembers Pendleton County individuals and businesses, politics in Falmouth, honey and dairy farming. He recalls circuses coming to Falmouth, tobacco warehouses that used to be there, describes the streets, sidewalks, first sewers and sewer plant for Falmouth. He also talks about the railroad, Falmouth Fair and Court Day.

Pendleton Road Supervisor provides information

The Pendleton Road Department will be chipsealing county roads to protect them from water and weather damage and to keep them in good condition.

Chipsealing involves spreading a layer of hot emulsion, followed by a layer of rock. After the rock is spread, a roller is used to embed the rock into the emulsion. Some people mistake this procedure as just spreading gravel on the road. It is much more than that. Chipseal seals cracks in the pavement, delays deterioration to the road due to rain and sun, and gives better resistance to skids.

There will be some loose rock immediately following the chipsealing. The roadway surface will improve over several weeks as the surface stabilizes, resulting in a stronger and more durable roadway.

I am frequently asked why we don't blacktop the road rather than chipseal. The major reason we chipseal is the cost factor. Chipsealing is considerably cheaper than blacktop. The cost to blacktop a mile of road in Pendleton County this summer is approximately $50,000, (contractor laying the blacktop) whereas the cost to chipseal a mile of road is $5,000 (for the Pendleton County Road Department to do the work..)

In 1999 a mile of blacktop cost $19,000, now a mile of blacktop cost $50,000. This year Pendleton County received just a few dollars more for road maintenance than in 1999. Due to the increasing cost of oil products, we have been forced to chipseal many our roads rather than blacktop. This year we have blacktopped approximately 10 miles of county roads. We will chipseal approximately 20 miles.

We hope this better explains the funding dilemma that the county road department is facing.

The unknown sign changer

Dear Editor,

Sometimes while making my commute to Cincinnati on US Hwy. 27, I enjoy looking at the new signs put up by churches. Some give me a nice chuckle and then some make me wonder if their goal is to guilt, judge, or invite people. I think that many of the messages are meant to communicate to individuals who do not make it to church on a regular basis. However, sometimes the signs may not make sense to individuals who do not read the Bible. The message may seem to be some type of "code." For example many signs put up John 3:16. Now that wouldn't mean anything to me if I didn't grow up in church. I would probably think that the pastor is trying to get in contact with someone named John and then 3:16 would be the secret message that only "those Christians" can decipher.

This thought brings me to draw attention to Butler United Methodist Church's signs. You may have noticed the "Smokers Welcome", "There is Hope," and "You Are Welcome, for Real." The reason for these messages is to put a message that all can understand and relate to. Pastor David put the "Smokers Welcome" sign up after an incident where an individual apologized for smoking around him. Pastor David wants people to know that they will not be judged in his presence. It is important to stay creative and draw attention to the messages and it seems as if we have inspired others to do the same.

Last Sunday when Pastor David and I went to pick up some things, an individual or a group had made a different message with the letters of our recent sign "You Are Welcome, for Real." That morning it said, "Hoes Are Welcome Fo Real." Now this was a new twist and I'm sure it would draw attention. This "unknown sign changer" may have a point because as a church family we do/should welcome all people regardless of different life styles. Jesus himself said that the prostitutes were entering the Kingdom of God ahead of the supposed good religious folk of Jesus' day (Mathew 21:31). (Mathew is a section in the Bible that you can find in the index, 21 is the chapter/big number in Mathew, and 31 is the small number indicating the verse within that chapter.)

So this letter is to the "unknown sign changer" if he/she reads the newspaper. In the event that we may run out of ideas for the church sign, please contact Butler Methodist Church to discuss your ideas. We need messages that all can understand and relate to. So let me end with saying, "Sign Changers are Welcome, Fo Real."

On October 16, the FCC Choir opened the morning service with the hymn, "O, How I Love Jesus." Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Not Your Church, Not My Church, But Our Church" from Ephesians 4:7-16. Brother Clay preached that we are all biblically mandated, we have the biblical model, and we will have spiritual maturity for ministry within the church.

Names mentioned for prayer list were Wilma Jacobs, Brianna Wood, L.W. and Lorraine Bruin, Sandy Newberry, Bryant Brown, Mary Lou Matthews, Wanda Gosney, Josh Cole, Fred Jackson, Micky Utz, Jane Blackaby, Michelle Caldwell, Gracie Hutchison, and Kaelyn Adams.

Come and worship with us this Sunday: 9:30 a.m. for Sunday school, and 10:45 a.m. for worship service. Have A Great Day!

Falmouth United Methodist
It all starts innocently enough. You miss one Sunday at church, and you think it's no big deal; I'll make it next week. But then when the next week rolls around, you decide to sleep-in or relax with your newspaper and coffee. Well, one Sunday easily turns into two; which turns into more; and the next thing you know it's been months since you've been to church. You feel like something is missing, but don't make the connection. A lot of times, the longer you stay away, the harder it is to go back.

Has something been missing in your life? How long has it been since you've been to church? Hebrews 10:25 says: "Let us not give up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but let us encourage one another..." We're saving you a seat!

Falmouth Wesleyan

The ant is known to be the hardest working animal. It is easy to notice that it is always busy, and it has amazing strength. To see a person's ant farm leaves one in wonder. They construct their own homes underground and always sustain their required nourishment – all while working together. How does such a small insect exist in such a complicated life?

The true reason for considering the ant to be the hardest working animal is due to one fact – they never sleep! The ant is a rare species in that sleep is not a part of its biology. They do nothing but work!

We are humans. We do not have the biological ability of ants. Therefore, we occasionally need rest. But sometimes we push ourselves so much that it is discouraging to fail to reach our own expectations. However, when our strength and endurances fail, Christ goes the extra distance! We are saved by grace, by the death of Jesus Christ, not by our own works. The next time we feel as if we aren't quite doing enough for God, then maybe we should realize that believing in Jesus Christ will take care of the rest!

-Pastor Wes Shoemaker

Mount Moriah

Did you know how powerful God's Word is? It opens blind eyes (spiritual), opens deaf ears (spiritual), and gives life (eternal) to all who trust in Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior! It is powerful! Try it for yourself today!

Isaiah 55:6-9 says, "Seek the Lord while He may be found; call on Him while He is near. Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. Let him turn to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him, and to our God, for He will freely pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways," declares the Lord. "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts."

First Baptist

"A Lighthouse in the Community," Harry Crozier, Pastor. Adarin Williams blessed us with special music this Sunday morning. Bro. Harry's message, "Teach Me O Lord," was taken from Psalms.

We need to be still and listen to our Lord. He will teach us what we need to know, we just need to hear Him. He teaches us about compassion, long suffering, truth and mercy. If we will practice these things every day of our lives, we will be living as God wants us to.

We have begun collecting items for Operation Christmas Child. We are also collecting items to send to troops whose families attend our church. Please be prayerful for these projects.

We have been blessed with many answered prayers. Continue to pray for those seeking answers, those facing illness, and those who have lost loved ones.

Are you on heaven's "Most Wanted" list?

Glenwood Baptist

Chapters 1 – 3 of Romans dealt with sinful men: the heathen, the hypocrite and the Hebrew. In chapter four, Paul anticipates a question from the Hebrew regarding his genealogy and its relationship to God. The Hebrew was saying "I have Abraham as my father. I have been circumcised. I keep the feasts." Paul explains to the Hebrew that he misses the point.

Paul asks a question: "When was Abraham declared righteous: in circumcision or before circumcision?" Abraham's faith in God was counted to him for righteousness while he was still uncircumcised (Gen. 15:6, Gal. 3:6 and James 2:23). Circumcision was the sign and seal of his faith in God.

Paul also explains that if you have to work in order for righteousness to be imputed to you, then justification is owed to you. Paul makes it very clear that justification and salvation are by grace through faith and not of works.

Harvest Community

Because Jesus Christ is Lord and Master, he should call us servants; instead he calls us friends. How comforting and reassuring to be chosen as Christ's friends. Because he is Lord and Master, we owe him our unqualified obedience, but most of all, Jesus asks us to obey him because we love him. Do you have "A Personal Relationship with God?"

Our prayer list continues to grow, and we ask you to pray with us for Phillip Daniels, Sandy Bray, Isabella O'Hara, Barbara King, Lee Roy Faulkner, Brianna Wood, and the families of Lina Dean and Sylvia Carr.

Looking for a church home? We welcome you to come visit with us at 111 E. Shelby St. Sundays for Bible study at 9:30 a.m., worship services at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., and Wednesdays for Bible study at 6 p.m. Contemporary music, casual dress, and sharing the love of Jesus in a practical way!

Morgan Christian

On October 16 we enjoyed having Jeanie Trapp's mother, Wilma Williams, visiting for the first time. Pastor David's parents Joseph and Cecilia were also in town. We had wonderful music with Joe Lemmon on upright bass, Pat Lemmon on fiddle, Jason on banjo, Sarah on guitar, Steve Work on guitar and bass, Micah Wu on drums and Josh Wu on upright cello. At our Dominos game, Lois Work took first place, and Cecilia Wu/Hiram Harville took second.

We formed a new planning committee consisting of Hiram, April, Lois and Connie. We look forward to our trash pick-up day, the Wilson yard sale, Brianna Wood's benefit Trail Ride, and other activities that will have occurred by the time you read this.

New Hope Church of Christ

It is a Halloween tradition to dress up and pretend to be a different person. Many people like to pretend to be something that they are not. That may be fun for Halloween, but not for the Christian life.

Many people like to pretend to be Christians, but they don't attend church services. Some who do go to church services, do not act like a Christian at home or work. There are some that pretend to be one thing at church and something completely different outside of church.

Simply calling yourself a Christian and pretending to be religious does not make you a Christian. The Scriptures make it clear, you cannot pretend to be a Christian and be right with God. You are either in Christ or you are in the world.

New Zion Baptist

Join us for worship on Sundays; 10 a.m. for Sunday school, 11 a.m. for morning worship, and 6:30 p.m. for evening worship. There is also Bible study on Thursdays at 7 p.m.

Upcoming opportunities include CrossFire Crew's baby shower for Tesla at 7 p.m. on November 2. On November 13, CrossFire Crew will be performing at Fairview Baptist at 11 a.m. On November 20 we will be having our annual Thanksgiving Dinner at 5:30 p.m.

Our Harvest Party on the 16th was a great success. The kids both young and old had an awesome time. God blessed us with sunshine, warm temperatures and lots of little smiling faces. Thank you to everyone that made it such a wonderful day.

Remember in prayer Andy King, Nauva June Harding, Alexis Butain, Mary Sue Courtney, Bonnie Florence, Carolyn Bains, Bro. Harry Crozier, Rob Newman, Sarah Peed, and all of our men and women in uniform. Matthew 21:22 - "And all things, whatsoever ye ask in prayer, believing ye shall receive."

Oak Rdge Baptist

Greetings from Oak Ridge. October is Pastor Appreciation Month, so remember to tell your Pastor thank you for all he does in your church.

Tom and Mary Ann Knipfer

sang special music. Jacob and Cassie talked to the kids about how we can tell someone how God exists.

Bro. Baker's message was from Joshua 24: 14-15. Where is the commitment now days? Joshua was committed to God; he was not going to serve idols, or other Gods. He was only going to serve the Lord. We need to be in church serving him. We need to be accountable to God. Living out your faith has an impact on others. Take a stand for God!

Welcome Terry McCubbin to Oak Ridge Baptist.

Upcoming Events: October 22, Fall Festival at 6 p.m. Come out for fun, food, games, and a costume contest for the kids. October 29, Deacon's meeting at 8 a.m. October 30, meal and devotional at 6 p.m.

Happy Birthday to Adam Lee, Jasmine Jernigan, Debbie Knipfer, Desarae Mains, Jamie Kellam, and Caleb Thompson. Happy Anniversary to Bro. Russ and Melissa Baker.

October 31 is "Trunk or Treat" in Falmouth, at the Athletic Park. Time is 6-8 p.m.

Short Creek Baptist

On Saturday, October 15, some couples of the church went out on a date night, for dinner and a movie. The movie we saw was "Courageous." This Christian movie's strong message is speaking to hearts throughout America, and is a must-see movie for everyone. A special thanks to Tammy for putting this event together.

On Sunday, October 16, Bro. Brad's message was "Satan the Ruler." 1 Chronicles 21:1 says "And Satan stood up against Israel, and provoked David to number Israel."

PCHS Wildcats suffer heartbreaking loss to Harrison at Regionals

By: Sam McClanahan, Reporter
The magical post-season run enjoyed by the Pendleton County Wildcats soccer team came to a screeching and gut-wrenching halt last Monday night, when the team was ousted in the first round of the 12th Region tournament, 2-1, by the Harrison County Thoroughbreds.

Heading into the contest, you would have been hard-pressed to find a team in the area playing better soccer than the 'Cats. After storming through the competition en route to capturing the team's second straight district title, the stage was set for a rematch in which the 'Cats hoped to avenge a 3-2 loss on September 29.

Harrison County, the host school of the tournament, struck first 15 minutes into the game when sophomore Jordan Gasser took a pass from junior Kyle Foster and was able to find the back of the net. The Wildcats, who had scored 15 goals in the three district games, struggled to produce any offense despite getting plenty of decent shot attempts. As the half wore on, head coach Lisa Feltner could sense her team was pressing in a manner in which it hadn't in quite some time. "I could tell we were panicking a little bit. We hadn't trailed in a game in a while, and it was like we were playing as if there was only a few minutes left to play in the match," said Feltner.

The Thorobreds took a 1-0 lead into halftime as Feltner told her team to relax and realize that there were still 40 minutes of soccer yet to play.

In the second half, the 'Cats continued to get good looks, but were still unable to score until 20 minutes were left in the game. The match remained tied with 25 seconds left to play, and the Thoroughbreds were able to execute a set corner kick as Foster sent the ball to Cody Honeycutt, who was able to head the ball into the net and score the winning goal with seven seconds remaining.

"It's a devastating way to lose and end the season," remarked Feltner. "I hate to see our seniors and the rest of the team go out that way. But, that's just the way the game is sometimes, it brings just as much heartache as it does joy."

With the loss, the 'Cats finish with a mark of 12-9-4. Despite playing the most demanding schedule in the program's history, the club was able to rebound from a 2-5-1 record on August 27 to bring home another district championship, and see improved performance from several players throughout the course of the season.

"We had a great season and are sending off seven seniors who have enjoyed great careers playing for Pendleton County. I'm already looking forward to getting back on the field next season to continue the great tradition that is being made by our program," said Feltner.

The Wildcats should be poised to make another strong run next season, with leading scorer Aven Harper, defensive leader Travis Brinkman, and goalkeeper Jacob Farwell all returning.

Coach Feltner also praised first-year JV coach Steven McElfresh, and his contributions to the clubs successful season. "Steven did an outstanding job with our young players, I look forward to working with him for a long time. As a former standout player for the program, he has a great feel for relating to the guys and understanding the high goals we set for ourselves every year."

With a solid core in place, there is no reason to believe that the Wildcats won't be in the mix to claim more championships next year.

'Cats lose to Harrison; miss playoffs

By Bruce Reller, Jr., Reporter
The Pendleton County Wildcats had one final chance to make the playoffs last Friday, October 21. However, they lost on the road to Harrison County, 44-20.

Quarterback Austin Pyles had a hand in all three touchdowns in the Wildcat loss. He threw a 69-yard touchdown to Tyler Harrison. He returned a kickoff for a 96-yard touchdown, and Pyles ran for a touchdown (33 yards).

"Austin Pyles did a great job stepping in at quarterback after our first two quarterbacks went down to injury," Pendleton County head coach Terry Brown explained. "He took on a huge task and learned a new position in two days. Austin is a true competitor and I am glad to have him returning next season."

Brown continued, "He proved the other night that we need the ball in his hands the majority of the time, and he doesn't disappoint when challenged."

The Wildcats are now 1-8 on the season, and they look to end the year on a strong note. They will finish up with a road game against Bracken County this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Let's go Wildcats!

Dear citizens of Pendleton County:

Every person has the right to vote. When you turn 18 you should start using that right. It is a way for your voice to be heard. You get to help choose who becomes our governor, sheriff, representative, senator, and president.

In the last presidential election more women than men voted. Every though it was the highest number of people voting since the 1920's, everyone that could vote, didn't.

If you are not happy with who is in office now, the only way to change it is to vote. You may think that one vote couldn't make a difference, but every vote counts.

So, if you want your voice to be heard you need to get out and vote in the November 8 election.

Thank you,
Alexis Eckart

Sarah Monroe of Southern

Dear citizens of Pendleton County:

Are you going to vote on Nov. 8th? Well you should! You should because you get to choose who your different leaders will be. It doesn't always work out that way but if you vote you have a better chance of getting the leaders that you want. You will vote for governor, Lt. governor, attorney general, and commissioner of agriculture. You should vote on Nov. 8th because it is the responsibility of citizens and because it involves our cities, county and our state.

You should vote on Nov. 8 because it is the responsibility of citizens. You can try to choose who you want your leaders to be. You don't want someone you don't like to be one of your leaders, do you? It's your responsibility as a citizen to get out and vote so that there will be a chance that you will get the leader right for you in office.

You should vote on Nov. 8th because it involves our cities, county, and our state. We want to keep three of them safe. With the right people we will have a good chance of that. But you have to go out and vote for those right people. We need you to go vote so that you, your family, and your friends can stay safe with the right people being in office and it will be thanks to you.

By now I have given you a little bit of information about voting on Nov. 8th. So, are you going to vote? Remember you should vote on Nov. 8 because it is the responsibility of citizens and because it involves our cities, county, and our state. So get out there and vote at the General Election on Nov. 8th.

Sincerely,
Sara Monroe

Rumpke, "Landfills are highly engineered to protect the environment from our trash, and many of the environmental safeguards we have in place to protect the environment also help control odors."

One of the main ways Rumpke controls odors at its regional landfill is with its gas recovery system, which was constructed in 2007 through a partnership with East Kentucky Power Cooperative.

The 3.2 mega-watt plant owned and operated by East Kentucky Power Cooperative, converts the gases produced from decomposing garbage into electricity. The plant currently produces enough electricity to power nearly 2,000 homes in the county.

The production crew spent the majority of the day filming scenes at Rumpke's Landfill on Bryan-Griffin Road, but later ventured out to film homes in the Duckers Creek subdivision. The Modern Marvels episode is scheduled to air in 2012.

Rumpke Consolidated Companies, Inc. has been committed to keeping neighborhoods and businesses clean and green since 1932 by providing environmentally friendly waste disposal solutions. Headquartered in Colerain Township, Ohio, Rumpke is one of the nation's largest privately owned residential and commercial waste and recycling firms, providing service to areas of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia. Rumpke divisions include Rumpke Recycling, Rumpke Portable Restrooms, The William-Thomas Group, Rumpke Hydraulics, Rumpke Haul-it-Away and Rumpke Park. ## Edwardo's plays host to state political candidates

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

David Williams met with a group of citizens on October 18 at Edwardo's in Falmouth. Mr. Williams is President of the Kentucky Senate and a candidate for Kentucky Governor. Senator Katie Stine introduced Williams. She told the gathering that one of the important differences that separated David Williams and Steve Beshear was that Williams was Pro-life and Beshear was Pro-choice. Senator Stine also said that Richie Farmer was pro-gun and Jerry Abramson was anti-gun.

David Williams talked about his political platform, which included: the repeal of Obamacare, eliminating personal and corporate income taxes, protecting the coal industry from the EPA, protecting farm families from the EPA, reforming unemployment insurance and the state pension system.

After speaking Senator Williams took questions from his audience and discussed issues that directly affect all Kentucky voters.

On October 19 the Democratic Campaign Tour Bus came to town. Governor Steve Beshear and his running mates held a rally at Edwardo's. Jerry Abramson-Candidate for Lieutenant Governor told the crowd to remember that he and Steve Beshear were military veterans and that David Williams and Richie Farmer were not.

Governor Steve Beshear told the gathering that now the polls show that he holds a 31 point lead over his opponent, but that could easily change before November 8. The governor said that the Williams' Ticket was full of Tea Party types and if they are elected citizens can expect the same food fight mentality and gridlock in Kentucky government that is currently happening in Washington D.C. "We can't let that happen!" he said.

In addition to Steve Beshear and Jerry Abramson the following individuals spoke: Allison Grimes-candidate for Secretary of State, Adam Edelen-candidate for State Auditor, Bob Farmer-candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, and Todd Hollenbach-candidate for State Treasurer. Jerry Abramson told the audience that Jack Conway-candidate for Attorney General, wanted to be at the rally, but he was stuck in a seven mile traffic jam on Interstate 71.

Autumn in the Kentucky Garden

Autumn is a beautiful time in Kentucky gardens, but it can also be a messy time. The season brings piles of leaves from our trees and spent shoots from our flower beds.

The way we address this yard waste can have a significant impact on our gardens and the environment. Gardeners commonly rake up and bag leaves to be hauled away to yard waste dumps. This option, while tidy, uses a lot of energy, both yours and the energy to transport the leaves and mixed garden waste.

Mulching leaves and yard waste is another option. Why not use this bountiful resource to enrich your lawn and garden and create less waste and air pollution? A very simple technique with leaves is to rake them into a line and mow over them with your lawn mower. The mower will chop the leaves into pieces small enough to fall between the blades of grass in your lawn. The chopped leaves will break down out of sight and provide nutrients to your lawn and improve the quality of your soil.

For larger items like spent flower stalks, composting is a simple, easy and environmentally friendly option. Proper composting produces no odor and provides you with a generous amount of nutrient-rich organic compost for your garden which reduces or eliminates the need to buy fertilizer.

Composting also eliminates the need to transport garden waste, making composting a triple-win situation for your garden, wallet and the environment. The speed of compost production is influenced by the size of the material placed in the bin, so the more you can chop up the garden debris, the quicker you will have usable compost. Many options for compost bin design and construction are well suited to any location and budget.

Turning leaves into mulch has many benefits. The mulch helps retain moisture in the soil and insulates plants from extreme winter temperatures. The decomposed leaves become an excellent conditioner for warming spring soil, helping to attract worms and other beneficial microorganisms.

End of garden season; Apple Cake with topping

By: Lovina Eicher

It is a cold 40 degree Monday morning. Yesterday morning it was even colder and it frosted in a lot of places. This will probably put the garden season for 2011 to an end. My back porch has red beets and peppers waiting to be canned.

Friday we went to get apples and grapes at the local U-Pick farm. A lady in our church offered me use of her steamer to make the grape juice. I can now see how much easier it is to steam the grapes and can the concentrate, rather than use the method I had used before. We put two bushels of grapes into juice on Saturday using the steamer. I hope to get me a steamer before the next growing season.

Husband Joe went back to work after a week at home due to not having work at the factory. Last week was a very rainy week, so he didn't get the garden tilled yet being that it was too wet. He did get a lot of other odd and end jobs done around the house. The week being rainy it was very difficult to get the laundry dried. We hung as much of it on our porch as we could. We don't have our stove going yet so not having heat yet in the house clothes didn't dry very fast. Even on the porch the clothes did not dry well due to the dampness from the rain. We finally managed to get everything dry by Friday after we had washed everything on Tuesday.

Saturday was cold but sunny and breezy so we took advantage of the weather. We did laundry again and took all the bed sheets. Every week the bed sheets from six beds can make a huge laundry. It is now 8 a.m. and the sun is shining bright. We will do laundry again today taking advantage of the weather. It doesn't take long for dirty laundry to accumulate with 10 people in the family.

Yesterday Jacob, Emma, and family, and Elizabeth's friend were our dinner guests. On the menu was meatloaf, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, corn, mixed vegetables, macaroni salad, pasta salad, sliced cheese, sliced tomatoes, green peppers, and sweet onions. Also strawberry cheesecake, peach cobbler, peanut butter pie, and watermelon. The watermelon was out of Jacob's garden. The peach cobbler daughter Susan made with peaches we put in the freezer.

Our neighbor lady gave me the peaches and also gave me the idea of freezer peaches to put in pies and desserts. We had plenty of leftovers for supper tonight. The children enjoyed taking pony rides with Stormy while their cousins were visiting. Meanwhile, the girls went over to our friend Amy's house to see the newest addition to their family, a daughter, Emily Elizabeth. We used to help her out with her other children. Her twins Joshua and Jacob, 7, would always come here after school while they were in kindergarten. Her son Matthew we kept here for a few months also while Amy worked. It didn't take us long to really get attached to the children. Lovina and Kevin always enjoyed their playmates when they were here. Now time has passed so quickly and they are all in school full time.

Yesterday afternoon we had surprise visitors from Ohio. They were Joe's Uncle Solomon Eicher, another uncle, Jacob and Mary Eicher, and three of their grandchildren, Susan, Norman, and Ben Eicher. Ben has a special friend in this community. We were glad they stopped in for a visit.

We have three bushels of apples on hand which the children enjoy eating for after school snacks. We are also enjoying fresh cider right now. With all the apples we have on hand, we are trying many new recipes. For instance, try this delicious, fresh apple cake:

APPLE CAKE
3 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cups pecans, chopped
1 1/2 cups vegetable oil
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
3 cups peeled apples, sliced

Preheat oven to 350. Lightly grease an angel food cake pan and set aside.

In a large mixing bowl, stir eggs, oil, and sugar. In a separate bowl, sift salt, soda, and flour and add to egg mixture. Stir in vanilla, nuts, and apples and pour all into the prepared pan. Bake 1 hour and 15 minutes. When cake is done let cool 15 minutes, loosen in pan while still warm and add topping. Let cool. Here is the topping recipe:

TOPPING:
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/4 milk
1/2 cup pecans

Boil the brown sugar, butter and milk over medium heat for 2 1/2 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in pecan. Spoon topping over the cake.

Making the Most of Halloween

As holidays go, Halloween ranks as one of the big events of the year. Over time, Halloween celebrations have changed, with a definite shift away from costumed kids walking through neighbors after dark with little to no supervision to the current emphasis on organized fall festivals and trick-or-treating during designated hours in business, community or downtown centers. This change also lessens the emphasis on overeating, since organized activities and sports, such as archery, are now part of some community festivities.

4-H plays a pivotal role in helping youth enjoy a safe and successful Halloween. Here are some tips:

Costumes, however spooky, creative or outlandish, must be safe. Be sure the costume has large holes so the child can see where he or she is going and breathe easily. Length, fit and comfort will make a costume more enjoyable, especially when worn for an extended period. Costumes should be flame resistant. Make sure any props are lightweight and safe. A princess weighed down by her wand or a knight in shining armor whose armor weighs a ton may be miserable and even sore well before night's end.

An adult or responsible older sibling should accompany children to supervise and monitor them throughout the entire evening. Pay particular attention when trick-or-treating through neighborhoods, keeping an eye out for any unsafe or wayward behavior from other groups you may encounter. Carry a flashlight, wear reflective clothing so your group is visible, and stay close together.

Discuss appropriate behavior for children during Halloween celebrations, making a clear distinction that while spirits may run high, displays of vandalism and hooliganism are inappropriate. Also be sure children know to be courteous and polite when accepting treats. "Please" and "thank you" are never inappropriate, and in fact, are necessary. Good manners upon receiving treats reward the investment the host has made to make the holiday special.

Candy overload can be avoided by placing less emphasis on accumulating the biggest pile during trick-or-treating and more on other activities, such as pumpkin-carving and social activities and games.

Remember that an adult should look over candy to ensure that it is safe before it is eaten. After you have carefully inspected the candy, offer your ghosts and goblins the opportunity to trade in pieces of candy for coins or a toy. Even Halloween treats should be eaten in moderation.

The Kentucky Division of Forestry (KDF) is once again preparing for an active wildfire season. The fall forest fire hazard season began Oct. 1 and runs through Dec. 15. During this time, it is illegal to burn anything within 150 feet of any woodland or brushland between the daylight hours of 6 a.m. and 6 p.m.

"Battling wildfires has been all the more difficult in recent years as the division has been doing more with less," said Leah MacSwords, director of the Division of Forestry. "The ability to respond to wildfires and protect the surrounding forests and the safety of our communities is still our number one priority. Our partnerships with local fire departments to protect citizens and property from wildfires are even more critical this fire season."

Forestry officials say that public efforts can go a long way in reducing the occurrence of wildfire. Taking extra precautions with debris fires and campfires, as well as being alert to forest arson can eliminate the majority of wildfires that occur in Kentucky.

To help prevent wildfires, KDF recommends the following precautions:

- * Be aware of all outdoor burning restrictions, including forest fire hazard seasons, air pollution regulations, restrictions imposed by local ordinances and county burn bans.

- * Avoid burning debris during fire hazard seasons and during times of dry, windy conditions. Outdoor burning is illegal between the hours of 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. in or within 150 feet of any woodland or brushland dur-

Safety tips for heating your home

The cold Kentucky winds are beginning to blow, signaling that it's time to turn on the furnace. Safety from fire and carbon monoxide poisoning should be your first priority.

U.S. fire departments responded to thousands of home structure fires in 2009 that involved heating equipment, according to the National Fire Protection Association. Not only are furnaces potential hazards, but many of the fires started from space heaters. Carbon monoxide deaths were another problem.

Following a few safety rules can lessen the chance of a fire or carbon monoxide poisoning at your house.

Keep flammable materials at least three feet away from heating equipment. This includes paint cans, combustible cleaning supplies, paper, curtains, clothing and rugs. Better yet, keep volatile liquids like paint and cleaners in a different room. Make sure all vents are free of obstructions.

Have a furnace professional check your furnace for gas leaks, cracked burners and heat exchangers, and other malfunctions. Replace the furnace filter frequently.

Use a glass or metal screen in front of your fireplace so embers don't pop out creating a fire hazard. Keep the hearth clear of decorations and debris.

A smoke alarm is still the best tool for early fire detection, and a carbon monoxide detector is the best tool to prevent fatal carbon monoxide buildup. At a bare minimum, there should be a smoke alarm on every level of your house, and a carbon monoxide detector located per manufacturer's recommendations. Replace the batteries in these detectors at least once a year, and replace the entire smoke and carbon monoxide alarms every 10 years, since their sensors wear out.

Have a three-foot "child-free zone" around open fires and space heaters, and teach your children that fires and heaters are dangerous.

If you have a wood stove, it should be surrounded by a non-combustible floor, and in some cases non-combustible wall panels. Check with local authorities about the required radius for non-combustible flooring and the required distance from walls before the non-combustible panels are installed.

Have chimneys cleaned and inspected every year by a qualified professional. A sluggish draft or smoke rolling into the room could mean creosote buildup in the flue, which could lead to a nasty chimney fire.

Use only clear, 1-K grade kerosene in kerosene heaters. Grade 2 kerosene burns dirtier and releases many more pollutants. Other fuels like gasoline will lead to fires or explosions.

You must provide outside air ventilation for kerosene heaters or any other unvented heaters. A general rule of thumb is one square inch of open window or door for each 1,000 btu of heater rating, but check manufacturer's instructions. Carbon monoxide buildup has killed many people, often in their sleep.

Turn off portable heaters when leaving the room or going to bed, and never use your oven to heat your home.

Rehearse with your family fire safety practices. For example, set a family meeting place outside your house if a fire occurs, so you will know that everyone is safe.

These few precautions will help you keep warm and, most of all, safe.

For more information about fire prevention and home heating safety, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Fall forest fire hazard season now in affect

Citizens asked to help prevent wildfires

ing forest fire hazard seasons.

- * Extinguish all campfires and debris piles completely. Never leave a fire unattended and always extinguish fires if conditions become too windy. The smallest spark can lead to a dangerous wildfire.

- * Extinguish smoking materials property. Put out cigarettes, cigars, or pipes only in cleared areas free of vegetation or debris. A carelessly discarded cigarette can start a wildfire that could blacken thousands of acres.

- * Avoid parking cars, trucks, or recreational vehicles on dry vegetation. The exhaust system on a vehicle can reach a temperature of more than 1,000 degrees, which is hot enough to start a wildfire during our current dry season.

rent dry season.

- * Incorporate "Firewise" practices around homes and communities in forested areas. Firewise practices range from creating a defensible space by removing leaves, debris and firewood to ensuring access for safety personnel and equipment in rural or isolated areas.

- * Report suspicious acts of arson to the nearest Kentucky State Police post or call the Target Arson Hotline at 1-800-27-ARSON.

For more information about how you can prevent wildfires, contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry at 1-800-866-0555 or visit the division's website at <http://forestry.ky.gov/Pages/default.aspx>.

Fall Series: Doghouse Divided, Chapter 8

"Civil War Battle Reenactment. Calling for Volunteers."

"In commemoration of Kentucky's sesquicentennial Civil War anniversary, the History Society will be holding a battle reenactment. In addition to those who will reenact the battle, we're looking for volunteers in the following areas: refreshments, greeters, parking attendants, musical entertainment..."

Musical entertainment! I couldn't wait to call Bark. I knew he'd want The Barkstreet Band to volunteer. And wait until I tell my parents. After supper and chores, I had hours of drumming ahead of me.

"How's it going, pups?" Mrs. Grant asked, entering our office.

"Unbelievable!" I said, knowing I needed to focus on my job. "Can you believe the two leaders of the Civil War were from Kentucky? It's one more thing that makes our state awesome!" I barked. We relayed the information about Lincoln and Davis to Mrs. Grant and told her about the Civil War battle reenactment. She complimented us on our work. My heart swelled and my cheeks flushed from the praise. Chloe smiled from ear to ear!

"I'm impressed with the information you've gathered for our 'Brother Against Brother' room for our library. We have enough material for the 'Background' and the 'Brothers' section, now focus on the section called 'Bluegrass.' This will feature Kentucky's role in the war. After you eat lunch, spend time researching Kentucky. Were they a southern state or a northern state? Buzz me if you have questions."

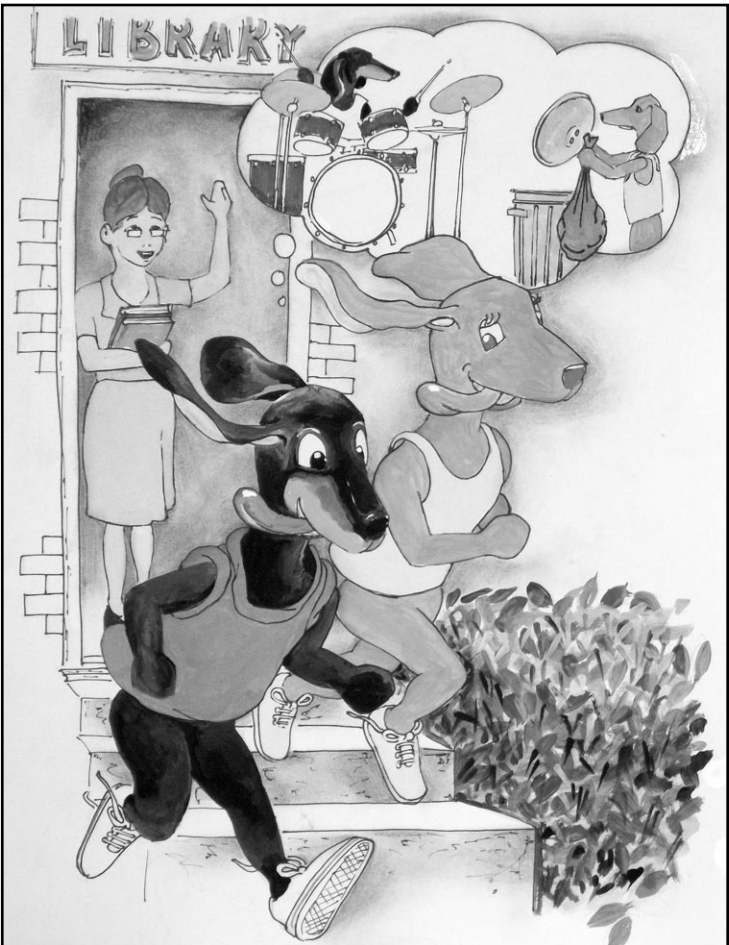

Chloe and I fetched our lunch, gave thanks for our food, and gobbled up the vittles Mom had sent. I wondered what the Civil War soldiers ate. Grabbing a book, I read a few paragraphs to Chloe while we ate.

"The Civil War soldiers ate plain food like rice, onions and other foods that wouldn't easily spoil. Union soldiers also received a hard crackerlike biscuit called hardtack while Confederate soldiers ate cornmeal. When soldiers were in a real bind they ate rats."

"Woody, please!" Chloe choked. I was going to correct her for talking with her mouth full when I realized the time. I needed to call Bark and tell him about the Civil War reenactment. I put the book away and made the call.

"Sweet," Bark replied. "The band will love to hear about a new gig."

"We'd better get going, Woody," Chloe instructed. "Mrs. Grant left us these books.

Let's look through them before we log back on the computer."

I told Bark goodbye, and Chloe and I rummaged through the books we'd been given. One book, Kentucky: A Border State, immediately caught our eye.

"Kentucky was a border state. They allowed slavery but chose not to become a Confederate State. The state had ties to both the Confederate and the United States (also known as the Union). Both sides wanted control of Kentucky. The Confederacy wanted to control Kentucky so they could have unlimited access to Kentucky's horses and crops. The Union needed the rivers in Kentucky to move supplies and soldiers. Still, the state remained neutral.

"While the state didn't pick sides, Kentuckians did. About 90,000 Kentuckians fought for the Union, while 40,000 people fought for the Confederacy."

"Unbelievable," we both said after reading the information. "Not only did the phrase 'brother against brother' refer to Lincoln and Davis, it applied to the people of Kentucky - families in Kentucky. I couldn't imagine family members - brothers - being on opposite sides of such an important event. Talk about a divided doghouse," I said to my sister. Sure, Chloe and I could disagree over silly things, but we loved each other. I couldn't imagine going to battle against her.

We were giggling about the time we were arguing over whose piece of bacon was the biggest when Mrs. Grant came in.

"Hey, cuties! Tell me what you found out about the Bluegrass?" she asked as she plopped down beside us. We informed her of our findings, and once again she applauded us for our hard work. "You two have a great afternoon, and I'll see you in the morning." We told Mrs. Grant goodbye before leaving the library. It was time to head home, complete our chores, eat and drum. First, I couldn't wait to tell Mom and Dad about playing in the reenactment. Rather than walk, Chloe and I both ran the entire way home.

I barreled through the door and...stop the presses...there was an open space on the living room floor. I searched every room. Nothing. My paws felt sweaty and my heart raced.

"Chloe, call the police! We've been robbed!"

Art teachers, from all over the state, participate in this exhibition by entering up to six pieces of their best student work. The artwork is judged by age groups and first, second, and third place awards are given. This year Southern Elementary was honored with three awards. In the fourth-sixth grade category, Pearl Cochran won first place and John Brown won second place. David Harney won second place in the K-third grade category.

Before you know it ghosts and goblins will be running in the streets to trick-or-treat and Kentucky State Police want to make sure your kids stay safe this Halloween.

Below are some safety tips for adults and youngsters so you can enjoy this special night:

• Make sure your child carries a flashlight, glow stick or has reflective tape on their costume to make them more visible.

• Younger children should be accompanied by an adult or older sibling.

• Instruct your children not to eat any treats until they have been checked by an adult.

• Make sure your child is able to see out of their mask properly and can walk in their costume without tripping.

• Remind kids not to enter a strange house or car.

• Inspect your child's candy before they eat it. Discard any unwrapped or suspicious looking goodies. If your child does get sick, call your doctor or the hospital emergency room immediately and save all wrappers. It is
